TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 27, 1860.

To the Public.

THE SENTINEL, having double the circulation IN THE CITY, and more than treble OUT OF IT, of any other paper here, renders it far the cheapest and most desirable medium in Milwaukee for all classes of Advertisements.

California and Oregon—All Hail!

The Pony Express, which left San Francisco on the 14th inst., brings gratifying news from the Pacific States. OREGON certainly and CALIFORNIA probably, have given their Electoral votes for "Honest Old Abe." A slight doubt still exists as to the vote of California, but the probabilities are that it has gone for LINCOLN. This is the first time that the Republicans have carried either of our new States on the Pacific coast. The omen is an auspicious one.

A LEFT-HANDED COMPLIMENT.—The Beaver Dam Democrat, of last week, advises its readers, if they want "a Milwaukee Democratic paper," to send for the People's Press, and it adds:

Since the Enquirer suspended, the Press is the only Democratic paper in our big city worth mentioning.

That is anything but "a favorable allusion" to the News, Banner and Seebote, the three old organs of Democracy "in our big city." Perhaps the BRECKINRIDGE propensities of the Beaver Dam paper, color its judgment.

TENNESSEE FOR THE UNION!—The Chicago Tribune of yesterday publishes the following extract from a letter, written by a prominent citizen of Tennessee, under date of Nov. 19th:

We are suffering much here from the secession movement at the South, it having depreciated Southern money. But nine-tenths of our people in Tennessee are in favor of acquiescing in the election of Lincoln, and will stand directly and squarely up to the Union."

Good for Tennessee! A few more such patriotic utterances from the Southwestern States will effectually veto the secession demonstrations.

SENATOR SEWARD AT HOME.—Read, Republicans, aye, and Democrats, the admirable speech of Senator SEWARD at the Republican jubilee in Auburn, on Tuesday night last. Who can find fault with its sentiments, or except to its language?

KENTUCKY—OFFICIAL.—The official vote of Kentucky is thus declared: Bell 64,016; Breckinridge 52,836; Douglas 25,644; Lincoln 1,366. Bell over Breckinridge, 11,280 majority.

THE TYPHOID FEVER is said to be raging in Grant county, in many instances proving fatal.

Wanbeka Mills Burned.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

OZAUKEE, Nov. 25.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The Wanbeka Mills, in the town of Fredonia, in this county, were burned this morning about 6 o'clock.—Supposed to be set on fire. Loss from $9,000 to $10,000; insured in the Hartford Co., for $2,500. Said mills were owned by H. J. TURNER. Yours in haste,

N. L. TURNER.

Panic is Dead!

The New York Courier & Enquirer, of Friday last, Nov. 23d, in its leading editorial, discourses as follows:

"Panic is dead. The political and pro-slavery mongrel, died on Wednesday at 5 P. M.; and yesterday, his funeral was one which produced very general rejoicing.—Everybody appeared to rejoice over the violent death of this great disturber of the public peace; and we are sorry to say, that many who claimed to be the deceased when living, were among the first to treat with contempt and contumely his dead carcase, kicked about from pillar to post without any body to claim an interest in it, much less to mourn over, and do it reverence. A murder has been committed; and yet the conspirators who perpetrated it, instead of shrinking from the consequences, boldly avowed their responsibility for the homicide, and received the thanks instead of the denunciations of the community. The Banks avowed that they had deliberately assassinated General Panic; and the intelligence was rendered doubly acceptable by the announcement that in the contest which resulted in his death, General Humbug was mortally wounded and General Confidence restored to the command and control of the fiscal affairs of the city and country.

We need not not say how sincerely we rejoice in this restoration of confidence among all classes; nor need we reiterate our conviction that there has been no cause for the disturbance in our monetary affairs which has proved so disastrous to good men, and from which, only knaves and political tricksters, have reaped any benefit. Even the pro-slavery party of this region, who have been bullying us for weeks past, and threatening the country with Panic and Disaster for months to come, in consequence of Mr. Lincoln's election, must now admit, that the Humbug has now exploded without doing any permanent, political injury to the party it was intended to destroy."

THE TAX DECISION—IMPORTANT ACTION.—The Circuit Court now in session in this place, Judge Cothren presiding, a case was decided on Thursday last in which was involved the value of Wisconsin tax titles—the suit was brought by Legate and others to recover possession of Land from Blair and Eager, which the latter held under a tax title deed for three years and over before the repeal of limitation act of 1849. Joseph H. Cary of Mineral Point appeared for plaintiffs, and Miles and McKees of Lancaster, for defendants.

The Circuit Court decided that possession of lands under a tax title deed for three years or more under the limitation act of the Revised Statutes of 1849,—that the limitation act of 1849, though sufficient when existing, as decided by the session Laws of 1856, and although the three years' possession had expired before the repeal, that the limitation act did not give title but only immunity from actions which immunity the Legislature could remove at any time. The case will be carried up to the Supreme Court. —Grant County Herald.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—As might have been expected, we are advised by telegraph that the President's message will be sent in advance of its delivery, "as far North as Boston, and as far South as Richmond," and as far West as—well, Mr. Buchanan don't KNOW there is a West. We hope the Postmasters of the principal western cities will at once protest against the inexcusable neglect of this section. If a little common sense could be got into the President's head, he could not but see the gross impropriety and insolence of his course towards the West. He will be the last of the Presidents who will be indifferent to the public opinion of the Mississippi valley. There is some comfort in that reflection.—Cincinnati Commercial.

NEW REGULATIONS AT THE STATE PRISON.—Owing to the several attempts that have been made during the past year, to escape from the prison, the Commissioner has deemed it necessary to make the rules of the institution more strict, and the discipline of the prison is enforced accordingly. Several new features have been introduced into the policy and general management, designed mostly, however, to guard against future attempts and insure the safety of the prison. —Prison City Item.

Sold Himself for the Sake of a Leader.

The talented and versatile editor of the People's Press, having worked up all the standing topics into editorials, with wonderful dispatch and consummate dexterity, is compelled to fall back upon such a text as the following for the last sermon:

NEGRO SUPREMACY.—The almighty "nigger" has been elevated to such a height of importance, lately, that he has begun to feel his oats, and the term "negro equality" seems likely to lose its significance. As an evidence of this tendency, the Philadelphia Ledger contains the following advertisement under the heading of "wants:"

WANTED.—By a respectable colored family, a white boy of 14 or 15 years of age, to wait on table and make himself generally useful about the house. Address, with reference, "Pendergrast, Blood's Dispatch."

While we admire the eloquence and logic which show this alarming inversion of a natural order of things to be the result of CARL SCHURZ's teachings and ABRAHAM LINCOLN's election; while we are forced to admit that the editor has conclusively shown that the advertisement is one of the immediate and serious consequences of placing power in the hands of Republicans, our admiration is somewhat dampened, our convictions shaken, by the knowledge that the text is bogus. PENDERGRAST is a myth—the principle of equality set forth in the pouparist—a sensation squib. Has our neighbor no better material than this for foundation? If squibs are henceforth to be the basis of his elegant essays and parables, we beg leave to suggest a few, cotemporary with the one he has used. For instance, what a powerful argument might be deduced from the following against CARL SCHURZ:

NEGROES PUTTING ON AIRS.—The negroes in Washington (there are about 5,000 free negroes in the city) are very much elated; and some amusing stories are related of them. A lady who had hired a free negro girl from her mother, slipped a dollar into her service for the next year, and was informed by her mother that Lincoln having been elected, her husband expected to get a clerkship, and then she would send her daughter to a Northern boarding-school for young ladies. For these reasons they may thank republicans who have been so long and so industriously inculcating them.

Again, how severe this might be made to tell against the German orator and the Republicans:

A buck nigger in Louisiana recently refused to do another stroke of work for his master; having heard of the election of Lincoln he announced his determination to have no office in the Government. It was necessary to flog this Black Republican severely before he could be brought to his senses.

The truth is, there is no dearth of such texts just now, from which the most logical and useful democratic lessons may be spun, if no better material can be had. The nonsensical character of the squibs is in their favor. The talent of the editor is never shown to a better advantage than in building up argumentative structure on such trivial circumstances. When we see a great engineer planting his batteries on a four line nonpareil joke, and blazing away at CARL SCHURZ therefrom with magnificent effect, we hesitate whether to admire most the originality of the position, or the extremity of the cannonader.

CURTIS' LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—The avidity with which the Season Tickets to the admirable course before the Y. M. Association are purchased, induces us to think that we need n't do more than remind our readers that this is the evening for the opening lecture, to ensure a good house. When we add that GEO. W. CURTIS is the lecturer, we have said enough to bring out a good attendance of those who appreciate a high intellectual treat, combined with valuable instruction. Attention will be paid to the proper seating of the audience, though we advise an early attendance. We refer to our advertising columns.

LEDYARD'S FAMILY GROCERY STORE.—Mr. J. W. LEDYARD has just returned from New York, with the largest and best assortment of Family Groceries, Wines, Liquors and Cigars, ever brought to this city. The stock is very choice; has been very carefully selected; and having been purchased for cash, will be sold at a very moderate profit. The central depot for the famous "Monumental" Oysters—TANGEL MCCRAKEN, agent—is at LEDYARD's. Housekeepers and others can find there everything they want, in the way of supplies; all of the best and for sale cheap. Those who intend to "keep Thanksgiving," will find LEDYARD's just the place to lay in all necessary stores.

FOUND DEAD.—Mrs. MARIA MCMAHON was found dead in her house on Jackson street, between Michigan and Huron streets, Sunday morning. The coroner was called to hold an inquest, and the facts elicited seem to indicate that the woman died from the excessive use of intoxicating drinks.—Her husband had left her some time previous, providing, however, for her comfort in various ways. There are three children thrown upon the world by this sad ending of a dissolute life. When found the body was huddled into a trundle bed and one side frozen.

CHANGE OF FIRM.—Owing to continued ill health, Mr. J. H. BUTLER, of the firm of BUTLER & POST, has been compelled to retire from business, and has disposed of his interest to Mr. A. BURNHAM, at present sheriff of Fond du Lac county, and a brother of our Milwaukee BURNHAMS. The livery establishment is one of the largest and best in the North-west. Messrs. BURNHAM & POST are fully prepared for the winter campaign, and can, at all times, accommodate customers with the neatest turn outs on wheels or runners, and at reasonable rates.

A CHANCE FOR BARGAINS.—CALEB WALL, at the City Auction Store, has for sale and is offering at greatly reduced prices, a large and varied assortment of Winter Clothing; including Overcoats, Surtouts, Coats, Vests, Pants, &c. The taste and the means of almost every one, can find something to suit in this extensive stock. CALEB's store, in Young's new block, corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, was full of people, yesterday, selecting goods.

FIRE SUNDAY MORNING.—A small frame building, in the Ninth Ward, nearly opposite the German Catholic Church, occupied by A. WEBBER, as a saloon and dance house, was destroyed by fire between two and three o'clock A. M., Sunday. The dwelling house adjoining was slightly damaged. Loss about $300, which is covered by insurance.

ONE CASE IN COURT.—There was one case in the Municipal Court yesterday morning—and that a case of drunkenness. The halls of justice had the appearance of having been "cleaned out" by some invisible moral agent.

GONE TO PRISON.—Four prisoners—WETERSKI, MAY, MARY ANN JACKSON and KATE BOWLES departed this city yesterday in company with a Deputy Sheriff for Waupun—in pursuance of sentence of Municipal Judge.

The Oak Creek Murder.

The exhorbitant bail fixed by Judge MALLORY in the case of the State against THOS. JAIRIES, SEAMAN HEFFER and JOHN HEIFER, as reported in our issue of Saturday last, has excited considerable comment in the community. In common with a large portion of the public, we think the bail so fixed by the Court excessive; that it, in fact, amounts to an inhibition. We do not think the circumstances of the case, as detailed by the witnesses, both for the prosecution and defence, warranted the requirement of so heavy an amount of bail. We can say—as did the Judge—that "the fact of a human being having lost his life (by violence) strikes us all with horror." But was that taking of life premeditated? Was it taken—if taken it was—with that malice prepense contemplated by the statute? We think not!

It is not our province—neither is it our custom, as all our readers will bear witness, to decide, in advance of the trial, the guilt or innocence of accused parties, and for doing so now we have but one excuse to offer, viz: that three men, of previously good character, and still in the eye of the law innocent men, lie in the county jail on a charge of murder—charged with deliberately and with malice aforethought taking the life of a fellow being, and these men are compelled to stay in a jail which is very far removed from a physical paradise, because they cannot procure friends who can come forward to their aid and swear they are worth ten thousand dollars over and above all property exempted and that is liable to execution; so that for these three men to procure their temporary discharge from imprisonment it is absolutely necessary, under the decision of the Municipal Judge, that nine others having property, not exempt, to the amount of thirty thousand dollars, can become their bondsmen.

We desire to speak with the greatest respect of Judge Mallory. Candor compels us to say that were the Judge's and the prisoner's positions reversed, his honor could not procure the bail. It is exhorbitant, excessive and unjust, and our only wonder is that the cooler moments of his Honor have not led him to reconsider the decision, and in common justice to these poor Germans reduce the bail.

The wounds on the head of the deceased were inflicted during a row on election night, in a saloon in which the polls had been kept during the day; (furnishing another example of the folly of holding elections in any place where liquor is sold;) the row was between Irish and Germans—Saxon and Celtic blood grew hot—and a fracas ensued. In this row a man receives blows—by whom, is by no means certain. Unaided he walks across the ward, washes his head and face, borrows a handkerchief and himself binds up his hean. He walks home "ahead of the rest;" "it was about three miles to where he lived." He survives seven days, is visited by a physician who detects no danger, wholesale swearing is resorted to and five men are arrested on a charge of murder, two are discharged on the evidence of the prosecution alone, the evidence failing to establish against either of them a clear case of manslaughter in the third degree, and these three men are committed to jail, because in fact being men in the common paths of life they do not happen to possess among their acquaintances or friends men worth thirty thousand dollars, in property none of which is exempt.

This, we say, is excessive bail, and that these men are—until the bail is reduced and brought within the bounds of common law and constitutional justice—illegally detained in custody.

They have no other mouthpiece but the press and that must speak firmly, calling on the Municipal Court to mete out to them their rightful measure of justice.

RUNAWAY—NARROW ESCAPE.—Yesterday morning, one of JASPER VLIET's blacks attached to a cutter, started at a terrific speed down the sidewalk on Chestnut street. A young man in the employ of Mr. VLIET was in the cutter at the time, but all his efforts to rein up the horse were unavailing. He dashed down towards the bridge, and the cutter coming in contact with the timbers of the bridge, was dashed into atoms, and the young man thrown a distance of ten feet—landing on his feet, and wonderful to relate, was uninjured. It was a miraculous escape.

FAIR OF THE CATHOLIC ORPHAN ASYLUM.—The Fair for the benefit of the Catholic Orphan Asylum, takes place to-morrow, at Albany Hall. We had the pleasure of inspecting the various articles prepared by the children for this fair, but want of time compels us to lay over the notice we had prepared. Suffice to say they are unique and beautiful, comprising a great number of embroideries, collars, &c., &c.

WALL SELLS THIS MORNING, corner Van Buren and Michigan streets, a lot of house hold furniture.

Wednesday morning he sells the sofa, desk, chairs, carpets, stoves, and will commence to sell on Thursday three times a day, at 10 A. M., 3 P. M., and 7 P. M., Yankee Notions of all kinds, clothing, and various articles that every family wants.

CONSTERNATION AMONG THE DENTISTS.—The dentists have great times and rich pickings among the multitudes of decayed teeth, arising from the use of impure Saleratus with which the community is flooded. But JAMES PYLE's Dietetic Saleratus causes great consternation among them. It threatens to destroy their business. Depot, 345 Washington Street, New York. Sold by grocers everywhere.

WE KNOW NO OTHER WAY.—By which you can be convinced that Guernsey's Balm will positively perform what we say it will, than for you to make one application of it.

For sale by J. M. ALLCOTT, opposite the SENTINEL Office.

FOSTER GLEE CLUB PARTY.—Remember the Foster Glee Club Party to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, at the Light Guard Armory. Tickets may be had at Morse Bros' cigar store, or of the members. The party will undoubtedly be a pleasant affair; the music, at all events, will be fine.

THE FENCING MATCH.—The fencing match between DE VILLIERS, late of the Chicago Zouaves, now of this city, and Mr. FRED. HORN, of Pittsburgh, came off on Friday, the 23d, resulting in a decided victory for the gallant little Zouave, who made 151 thrusts to HORN's 13.

BY A TELEGRAM received from Mr. CURTIS, yesterday, from Chicago, the lecture committee are assured of his determination to be on hand to-night.

FOR fashionable Knit-Hoods, Jockeys and Embroideries, go to the dry goods store of G. LITTANER, 293 Third street, near the La Crosse R. R. depot.

MUSICAL SOCIETY CONCERT.—The Concert of the Musical Society at Albany Hall, last evening, was well attended and entirely successful. We are compelled to defer a detailed account until our next.

Popular Novels—Dr Holland's Recent Work.

"Miss Gilbert's Career," Dr. HOLLAND'S last work, may be pronounced a popular novel. Not in the sense that CHARLES DICKENS' and CHARLES READE's higher excursions in the same field are pronounced popular, not popular like "Hawthorne," but popular with the majority—the intelligent, not the critical majority. It has taken its place in every family, and has been read attentively by all the members, who have felt a refreshing pleasure in its pages, perhaps never found in those of Mrs. SOUTHWORTH or that ilk. The intelligent mass of readers looked through the author's glasses upon his stereoscopic pictures and they saw they were taken from life; they recognized the homely characters and acknowledged the chiaro oscuro. The popular verdict has been, "How natural;" and the author's aim in his artistic grouping and delicate coloring has escaped them; the effect, the satisfaction was acknowledged; but the design, the object, the moral, were overlooked.

Novel writing has of late years become a favorite vehicle with philosophers and moralists. The dramatic form seems best adapted to the demands of the age, and is by far the most eloquent style of preaching after all. Flooded as we have been with the literature of professional romancers who catered to a vicious taste, and made their wares to order, it is consoling to see men whose aims have been to elevate both morals and taste, taking up the pen of fiction and entering the great arena: it is no less pleasing to know that their efforts—while the principles they wish to advocate are not lost sight of—are adapted to the popular mind; not to its standard of excellence; but simply to its appreciation; simplified not lowered.

Dr. HOLLAND had become known to the reading world as a high-toned christian teacher; his letters and his "Gold-foil" gave him this character. His object has been clear in all his efforts heretofore; it was to do good not in the negative way of those tinkers who excite our attention first, and then our passions; but by clothing every day lessons of morality and christian duty in new garbs of originality that interested us and made us love them and acknowledge their vitality. Knowing and admiring him in this capacity, it was with considerable interest that we took up "Miss Gilbert's Career." How was the practical teacher to succeed in the gayer colors of imagination? Was the diction to be a speculation? and were the newspapers reserved for his more conscientious efforts?—Had the Cobbs and Bennetts excited his envy? and was he to be seen gossing in the same lurid sky?

A careful perusal of the work, answered all these questions. The author had a grand motive before he commenced. His aim, as usual, was high. It was at nothing less than one of the greatest evils in American society. How well he succeeded in the progress and denouement of his story, we shall see; but we propose to speak now of that moral.

"Miss FANNY GILBERT," the daughter of a respectable New England physician, of very energetic nature, is a type of a large class of young women in America. The moment she issued from the nursery, she was placed under the glass of the modern hot house, to have her brain forced. Her imagination was cultivated; her intellectual vanity encouraged, and her love of praise expanded, until in her mind she longed after fresh triumphs. The local admiration is not enough. Something must be done to attract the attention of the world—in a word, the girl's ambition has been developed at the expense of her woman's nature, and by a natural current, her aspirations concentrate in the channel of literature. Literature, how many mothers have you spoiled! How many tender hearts have been ossified by thy waters!

Beautiful victims battling in the ranks of life—for what? Shall we say independence, livelihoods? It may be, but generally fame, renown. Ambitious women! And why not, at this strong-minded age? Shall we deny the sex any of the high incentives, which have made heroes and lions of us?—Shall we say the Hesperian fruit belongs only to masculinity, when female fingers have picked the highest laurels in the literary groves? But there is a general apprehension that literary women are growing too numerous; that womanly natures are going over to ambition too fast. There must be STOWES and BRONTES, and to come down to the rank and file of fair celebrities, there must be SWISHELMS; but heaven save us from a fate which shall make all our women envious of their fame or ability. And it is but too apparent that the peculiarities of social life in America, as well as our systems of education, and our undue cultivation of the subordinate powers of the mind are making this a matter of possibility.—They tell us that "Rutledge" started into ambitious motion, a thousand female pens. Every editor will tell you that he is overburthened with sentimentality from lady correspondents. Our own table is lettered with them, the authors of which have an eye single to immortality, as is discoverable in the "private" notes.

It is the editor's delight to pick out occasional diamonds from the drift; he has a personal interest in it; but to a philosopher the indications are suggestive. Talent—aye, genius—there will be in woman as well as man, but it is too much the inclination of the times to draw woman out of that sacred temple, herself, and set her up in the garish sun, along-side of the traffickers in worldly honors. As a question purely of social expediency this tendency is to be regretted.—The world wants Christian mothers rather than talented authors. Posterity depends more upon the maternal voice, than upon the classic pen. This, we think, was the idea Dr. HOLLAND had when he drew up the skeleton of "Miss Gilbert's career," and he was almost as successful in pointing his moral, as in adorning his tale. ARTHUR BLAGUE, the real hero of the story, is made to undergo the training of a woman; his life is subjected to the wants of a suffering brother, away from the eye of the world. He occupies the field of heroism in which women have won their greatest and most lasting honors. Subordinate, devoted to the weak and suffering, and yet on the basis of this self-sacrifice—"building, almost unconsciously, a character, so sweet, so symmetrical, that every one who knows him regards him with a tender respect that verges upon veneration."

FANNY GILBERT—ambitious, self-willed, plunges into Literature and reaps the reward of talent—Notoriety. Her name is bandied about upon critical lips. She lives in a focus of enquiry. She is stared at in public and waited upon in private by a public that cares nothing for her. FANNY GILBERT awakes to find that literary fame is a shadow, it affords her no happiness. The adulation of the world disgusts her for she finds it is flattery.

In these two characters we behold a clever inversion of a natural order. The heroine strays away into an uncongenial element and only realizes her mistake by a subsequent insight into the character of ARTHUR BLAGUE. The lesson is a good one and apropos to the times. There is no mistaking it. A host of estimable women have made the same error. Closing their hearts and households and going off after fruits, which, when presented, turn to ashes on the lips. Dr. HOLLAND is a noble hearted man—for only such can appreciate woman in her natural and highest sphere.

FURS, FURS, FURS!

J. H. FREEMAN,
PRACTICAL FURRIER
No. 24 Wisconsin Street,

HAS TAKEN THE STORE FORMERLY occupied by Mrs. Dunn, where he will carry on the Cleansing, Altering, or Renewing of Furs of all Descriptions.

The subscriber is a Practical Furrier, and flatters himself that his stock is such as to compare favorably with any in the western country.

After spending many years of study, he has discovered a certain method of preserving old Furs to make them in every respect equal to new, no matter how far gone or poor-looking they may be.

All ladies wishing to have Furs altered, enlarged, cleaned, matched, or re-dressed, are respectfully invited to call early, and he will prove to their satisfaction that his work is better than ever before exhibited in this city. oct31d2w2mo

THE SENTINEL.

DAILY, TRI-WEEKLY & WEEKLY

RUFUS KING, EDITOR.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 27, 1860.

Provocation and Justification.

The Sentinel confounds provocation with justification. We have maintained that nullification North, provoked—not justified—nullification South. That the personal liberty bill has been treated as a nullity in this State only aggravates the wickedness of its authors. It proves that they passed it merely for the purpose of irritating the South, and not with a view of shielding visitors of the fugitive slave law from punishment. We say that the black republicans have provoked the South into the adoption of retaliatory measures.—News of Sunday.

Of course—that is the cry of every Northern doughface. We say, that the South "provoked" the very legislation of which it complains. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise; the enactment of the Fugitive Slave Law; the Dred Scott decision; the Nebraska iniquity; the Lecompton fraud; and the attempt to force SLAVERY upon the people of Kansas; were all so many aggresive measures, initiated by the Pro-Slavery Democracy, North and South, and calculated, if not intended, to exasperate and alienate the people of the North. Against these Federal and Sectional aggressions, seven of the seventeen Free States, set up the feeble barrier of local laws; passed in the belief that they were necessary to protect the rights and liberties of the people of the States referred to, and to ensure to persons claimed as "fugitive slaves" the right of a trial by jury and the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus—the identical features which DANIEL WEBSTER and other conservative Northern statesmen vainly endeavored to engraft upon the Fugitive Slave act. Had their earnest appeals and wise counsel been listened to by the South and the dominant Democratic party, no Northern State would have felt called upon to pass any "personal liberty laws." As it is, let the South consent to a modification of the obnoxious act—the primary cause of all the trouble—and the North, in its magnanimity, will gladly meet our Southern brethren half way.

During the last four years, we cannot recall half a dozen instances in which attempts to reclaim fugitive slaves have been successfully defeated by the operation of the State laws complained of. Within the last sixty days, on the other hand, there have been a hundred cases where citizens of Northern States, in the pursuit of legitimate business avocations at the South, have been mobbed, insulted, tarred and feathered, beaten with stripes, robbed, banished, and lynched; for the single offence, suspected, rather than proved, of entertaining anti-Slavery sentiments! What an outrage upon Truth it is, then, to represent the North as alone aggressive, and the South, as always meek, patient and long suffering! Let the News and its co-adjutors, North and South, pluck the beam out of their own eyes, before they complain of the mote in our Republican vision.

The Vote of Wisconsin.

The State Journal of Saturday contains the official vote from all but eight counties in this State. The aggregates are as follows:

Lincoln	59,257
Douglas	60,101
Breckinridge	848
Bell	149

The counties to be officially heard from are reported at 1,168 majority for LINCOLN, making his majority in the whole State 21,331!

The aggregate vote of the State will exceed one hundred and fifty thousand. Four years ago, it was 119,538.

The meeting of the Electors, who are to cast the vote of the State for President and Vice-President, will take place at Madison on Wednesday of next week, being the 5th day of December. We presume that they will take good care to be on hand in due season.

"JUST AS WE TOLD YOU."—The News insists that "the Democrats were the true, and the Republicans the false prophets," as to the results of the late election; and it adds:

> We have maintained from the outset that a Republican triumph would result disastrously to the interests of the people in every part of the Union, and our anticipations are now being realized. But the end is not yet.

No; nor the beginning. What effect a Republican triumph is to have upon "the interests of the people in every part of the Union," remains to be seen. The Republican Administration will not be inaugurated until the fourth of March next. Let it be judged by its fruits. We, at least, are content to abide that test. Only those, whose "anticipations," like their hopes, look to "disastrous" consequences, seek to precipitate matters, and thus obtain, if possible, a sage judgment.

They will be disappointed in their patriotic (!) expectations. The people, North and South, will hear before they strike. If the News holds, with the disloyal and turbulent "Fire-Eaters" of South Carolina, that the mere fact of Mr. LINCOLN'S election is good cause for Secession and Disunion, let it assume the courage to say so openly. If it believes, on the other hand, with the Republican party and the true friends of the Union everywhere, that Mr. LINCOLN'S Administration must be fairly tried, before it can be justly condemned; let it suppress its "anticipations" of evil; dismiss its unpatriotic hopes and patiently "watch and wait."

CARL SCHURZ.—The fact that CARL SCHURZ left for the East, last week, to fulfill some Lecture and other appointments, affects the News afresh. That amiable organ informs its readers that Mr. SCHURZ left because "the atmosphere here was becoming too close for him;" that the people no longer "believe in his doctrines"—Wisconsin having given only twenty-one thousand majority by way of endorsing the same—that it is his intention "to establish himself as an office-broker" at Washington, and "take contracts to procure federal appointments under 'Old Abe' for a stipulated price;" and that if he himself should happen to receive a foreign appointment, "the Democrats and Conservatives" in the Senate will reject the nomination—which circumstance, no doubt, would greatly gratify the Know-Nothing prejudices of the News and its sort. We are sorry to say, that these "anticipations" of the News, like a great many others which it formed and expressed during and since the election, are destined to a woful disappointment. What a pity, though that this "disastrous" organ cannot have things its own way.

VERMONT OFFICIAL.—The official vote of Vermont is thus given:

Lincoln		39,385
Douglas		5,748
Breckinridge		1,569
Bell		217
Lincoln's majority over Douglas		25,140
" " "	Breckinridge	32,029
" " "	Bell	39,201
" " all		33,624

The Republican vote of the Green Mountains is three to one against all others. Rather a decided preponderance.

MISSOURI STATE INTEREST.—The Missouri Republican says: "The Treasurer of this State publishes that he will be prepared to pay the interest falling due on all the Missouri State bonds on the 1st of January next. This is timely notice, we apprehend, for all those who have persistently sought to depreciate the credit of this State, without any good reason for it, and now let them hold their peace."

DISGRACEFUL OUTRAGE.—An effigy of Mr. LINCOLN was hung and burnt at Aiken, South Carolina, on the 8th. It was ridden on a rail borne by negroes, and minute men carried torches on either side. The ladies of the town waved handkerchiefs from the windows as it passed. After the hanging and burning, Captains TWINING and MIMS addressed the crowd, and a so-called generous citizen gave the crowd a collation at his residence.

"The Speakership."

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR:—I noticed in your paper a few days since that the name of L. F. FRISBY, Esq., of West Bend, is suggested, in connection with other gentlemen, for the office of Speaker of the Assembly. It strikes me that the suggestion of Mr. FRISBY'S name is a valuable one, as all will agree that the gentleman is entirely fit for the post.—Mr. F. is a man of excellent ability, a good lawyer, and unites a clear head and a keen perception, with an honesty of purpose above suspicion. He is also a good staunch Republican, and sound to the core on the political issues. He has fought hand to hand with the "shams" of Washington county for several years, and never has given one inch of ground, or yielded a single point, but has defended Republican principles ably and fearlessly, even in the very teeth of a bitter opposition.

As has been said before, the success of Mr. F. in his Assembly district was remarkable. There never has, I believe, been a Republican elected to any post in Washington county before; and this change in the feelings of the people "up there," ought to be acknowledged by our Legislature in bestowing upon the recipient of their favor, an office worthy of his talent. If the people of Washington county, which has been called the "Democratic Egypt" of Wisconsin, are given to understand that their judgment in the choice of Assemblymen is respected, they will be encouraged hereafter "to go and do likewise," not only in the choice of this officer, but the whole round of county officers, and we may hope by the next Gubernatorial election to see her coming in with very different figures than she has been in the habit of doing. Let Washington be redeemed if possible, and one way of securing that end will be in giving their representative a position where his talent and influence may be felt. AN OLD REPUBLICAN.

Milwaukee, Nov. 24.

An Important Statement of Causes that have Led to the Panic.

The following article from the New York Independent we commend to the careful attention of our readers:

"Who can gainsay the present general prosperity of the country at large? Never in any year before were barns so near to bursting as since the last harvest moon; never in any year before were the national exports so heavy as in this; never in any year before, at this time of it, did our gold and silver count up to rounder figures in solid specie in our vaults than can be counted now, and this, too, to be increased within thirty days by millions more to come from Europe and from California: never before have men had plainer evidence before their eyes of greater general activity, prosperity and happiness in the country, than since the bountiful summer just passed.

No: the Panic is the result, not of Poverty, but of Conspiracy. It has not a commercial, but a political cause. Commerce, having suffered herself to be used as the catspaw of politics, has had her fingers burned, and the pain that has followed is called a Panic.

A party of merchants of this city united several weeks ago in a discreditable combination to defeat the election of Mr. Lincoln by working upon the fears of those who were made to believe that his election would bring ruin upon the land. The Herald, for a fortnight before the election, announced the coming of a Panic with as much assurance as the coming of the next steamer. Of course, it was easy to prophecy it, because it had been already planned. Of course, those who were to make it, knew that it would be made. A pre-arranged movement to push down stocks is easily effected in this city. Such a pre-arrangement was made. Only some who had a right to be parties to it were not told in time, and lost money enough to excite them to vote for Mr. Lincoln. But the leaders, if not the rank and file of followers, knew very well when to get rid of their stock before the coming depreciation of value. We could mention the names of some well-known champions of the Fusion party who sold out all their stocks shortly before the market was to be borne down by their own unworthy act.

This was before the election, but on this preliminary panic did not succeed in defeating Mr. Lincoln, it has been kept up since —regardless of expense!—to break if possible the moral force of his election, to embarrass the incoming Administration, and to defeat the popular will expressed in the vote of the 6th of November. It is supposed that if the South clamors loud enough, and panic pinches long enough, and the lie be told often enough that the Republican party did it—the Republican States will be at last bullied into blotting out their Personal Liberty Bills—into permitting some of the free territories to be turned into slave soil—and into accepting some cunning compromise by which the country shall still continue to be governed by the old hereditary Slave Power whose dominion has now, by the people's decree, come lawfully to an end. But thank God that an honest and brave man is to be President!

This is the secret of the panic. The Slave-Power undertaking to do through the stock-market what it failed to do through the ballot box.

A Georgian and his Family Arrived in Boston.

From the Boston Transcript, Nov. 19.

Steamer Joseph Whitney, Capt. Loveland, arrived at this port this morning, having on board a full freight of cotton, amounting to some 1,400 bales. Mr. Ribero and family also came in the steamer. The story of his expatriation from Georgia, where he had long resided, as told by himself, is one of extreme hardship.

It appears that Mr. Ribero, who is a carpenter by trade, was engaged in building a bridge across the Shiddaway river, about ten miles from Savannah. On Thursday of last week, he received his Savannah papers as usual. The negroes, of whom there were eight in his employ, collected about him to hear the news. He merely said that the papers were full of politics. One of the negroes remarked, "Then Lincoln is elected, and we are to be freed;" to which Ribero responded that he "did not know about that." From this conversation the report spread around the neighborhood that the unfortunate man had said the negroes were to be emancipated by the election of Mr. Lincoln. Mr. Ribero did not know of the storm which was gathering to burst upon his head. On the first of last week the planters of the vicinity, armed with revolvers and bowie knives, met to try Mr. Ribero for his offence. They empanelled a jury of thirteen men for the purpose, although some were for shooting him, and others for hanging him, without any preliminary ceremony whatever. They did not deign to inform the prisoner what he had done to merit so summary punishment, although he was asked what had become of the eight slaves he had to work for him. He said that they were now employed, but that two had absented themselves, but where they had gone he was not aware.

When thus interrogated, Mr. Ribero was engaged in his occupation. In a short time, the verdict of the jury was communicated to him, the decision being that he should receive thirty-nine lashes, have one side of his hair and whiskers cut close, and be sent to Boston. Two negroes were employed to do the whipping. Mr. R. thinks they did not give the full number of lashes to which he was sentenced, as the whipping stopped when the blood began to gush from his back. His hair underwent the cutting that had been decreed.

The victim of this barbarous treatment was then placed in a carriage and carried to Savannah, and put immediately on board the steamer, without opportunity to communicate with any of his friends. This was on Thursday. The next day permission came to him to go on shore, but he declined to do so, as his life would have been in danger. He, however, in the meanwhile, was enabled to join company with his wife and two children, and they accompanied him to this city.

Mr. Ribero could not obtain his tools, and his family were obliged to leave Savannah, with little preparation for abandoning their home. They are fit subjects for discriminating charity. Mr. Ribero has lived many years in Savannah, and it is probable he would not have been so inhumanly used, but for the excited state of the public mind. The proceedings, throughout, were probably the work of a mob, too powerful for resistance by the officers of the law.

ACCIDENT ON THE RAILROAD.—The passenger and freight train, due here from the East at 4:35 this morning, met with an accident last night by the breaking of a rail between Eagle and Palmyra. There was a long train of freight cars, with a sleeping and passenger car at the rear. The freight cars passed over safely; but the passenger and sleeping car ran off the track and bounded over the ties and frozen ground for a few moments in a manner startling to the inmates. Happily the train was stopped with no injury to any one. It was detained, however all night, and did not get under way until after sunrise this morning. Among the passengers were Gov. Randall, Judge Howe, and Mr. Orton, of Milwaukee.—Madison Journal, Saturday.

Republican Jubilee at Auburn—Speech of Gov. Seward.

The Republicans of Auburn on Tuesday night last had their celebration of the result of the election. Public buildings and private residences throughout the town were brilliantly illuminated. The Wide-Awakes marched in torch-light procession through the streets. Stopping in front of Gov. SEWARD'S residence, they called him out for a speech. He responded as follows:

Gentlemen, Wide-Awakes, Fellow-Citizens, Friends and Neighbors:

This is not exactly according to contract. We parted last at midnight, you remember; it was at the Court House. The day the 6th of this month. Doubtful perhaps whether it was not the 7th. We were receiving the election returns. The First Ward, Republican; Second Ward, Republican; Third Ward, Republican; Fourth Ward, astounding Republican. [Cheers. Hurrah for the Fourth Ward.] That is right. The Fourth Ward Ward deserves it. Give the Ward three more. [Three more were given.] Now I think of it, the First Ward deserves as many. [Six cheers were given for the First Ward.] Well, then came the news from several towns, cheering, glorious, magnificent, and the scattering returns from other towns, counties and States. I told you that the State was Republican by 50,000; that Abraham Lincoln was President; that you would not need me longer to rejoice with you. I promised to leave a light burning in my library, and that if you should have bad news I would come back to you if called, and you promised me not to come unless the news should come in rather blue. [We did. That's it.] Well the news didn't come in blue, but all right and cheering. And yet you are here again. [Laughter, cheers. That's a fact.] And what aggravates the case is that the news is too cheering for you to enjoy it alone. [Laughter.]

Well, I suppose one must not insist on strict performance of engagements in these times, especially with Wide Awakes. It is their nature to be uneasy, and to make other people so. They would not let their adversaries sleep before the election. Their friends must not expect to be allowed to rest undisturbed after the election. (Cheers and laughter.)

Fellow-citizens, you have a right to rejoice. I remember that I thought it an occasion for rejoicing when the good cause we now maintain, carried one ward in the city, one or two, or three towns in the county, and the State of Vermont alone in the whole country. But now who will deny our right to rejoice, when it carries all the wards in the city, all the towns in the county, all the counties in the State where its argument is fairly heard, and practically all the States in the Union which allow, in fact, free speech, free debate, free mails, and free and universal suffrage. It is the earnest of its universal acceptance. (Cheers.)

But there is still greater reason to rejoice in the manner in which the success has been won. It is the verdict of the People for a principle—the Republican Principle—the true Democratic principle of Equal and Exact Justice to all men. (Cheers.) It is a verdict rendered purely on conviction, without passion or interest. Not a Republican vote in the United States has been procured through bribery or corruption. Nay, every vote has been given in resistance of intimidation and corruption. (Cheers.) I do not charge that the Fusion votes or other opposition votes were largely given under such appliances. But the record of the canvass remains, and bears its testimony that the main object of those parties was their menace of Disunion, and the last reliance was money at the Polls. (Cheers—That is so.) Who will now libel the American people?—Who will deny their virtue?

But this demonstration of yours has its meaning—its meaning in various relations. It re-calls the Past, and tells that the erroneous national policy of forty years has been retraced, reconsidered, reversed, condemned and renounced. Let, then, the passions and the prejudices be buried with the errors of the Past. It bears on the Future. It assures us that hereafter the policy of the country will be the development of its resources, the increase of its strength and its greatness by the agencies of Freedom and Humanity. [Cheers.] Dismiss we, then, the future, until your next election call you again to your council chambers, to renew your efforts in obedience to the principle that Eternal Vigilance is the tax we pay for Enduring Liberty. [Cheers.]

The immediate question is the bearing of the occasion on the Present. What is our present duty? It is simply that of magnanimity. We have learned, heretofore, the practice of patience under political defeat. It now remains to show the greater virtue of moderation in triumph. That we may be do this let us remember that it is only as figures of speech that the use of martial terms, such as "defeat" and "victory," obtain in our system of elections. The parties engaged in an election are not, never can be, never must be, enemies, or even adversaries. We are all fellow-citizens, Americans, brethren. It is a trial of issues by the force only of reason; and the contest is carried to its conclusion, with the use only of suffrage.

An appeal lies from the people this year to the people themselves next year—to be argued and determined in the same way and so on forever. This is indeed a long way to the attainment of Rights and the establishment of interests. It is our way, however, now as it has been heretofore. Let it be our way hereafter. [Cheers.] If there is among us or in the country those who think that marshalling armies or pulling down the pillars of the Republic is a better, because a shorter way, let us not doubt that if we commend our way by our patience, our gentleness, our affection towards them, they too will, before they shall have gone too far, find out that our way, the old way, their old way as well as our old way, is not only the shortest, but the best.

Fellow-citizens, I should do injustice to you, and violence to my own feelings, if I did not recognize in this a warm and most generous demonstration of your personal kindness to me. You know how deeply I was committed to the triumph of this Presidential ticket more than to any other in times that are past, and to its triumph more distinct and emphatic, if possible, here than anywhere else. How the eyes of friends in every part of the country were anxiously fixed on this State, on this county, nay, even on this town, to learn whether we were true in this crisis to our cause, our country, and to ourselves. This lent a new and intense earnestness to your efforts, and our success, therefore, has exceeded all that we dared to promise, though not what we dared to hope. The year 1860, how many acts of home kindness has it brought to me from all my neighbors. My welcome from abroad—sympathy with me in my labors for the country at Washington—the resene of my dwelling from fire during my absence—co-operation with me, so earnest, so devoted, so effective in securing the ascendancy of the Republican cause throughout the Union, these congratulations on its success—I feel them all more deeply, more gratefully, than I dare express. May you find your reward in the increasing happiness and growing greatness of our country.

And now we part again. You to lay aside the emblems of your political association, at least for a time, and to return to your industrial pursuits and social enjoyments. I to return to the theatre of public duty at the National Capitol. May a kind Providence spare all your lives and continue all the blessings you enjoy, and when we meet again in the coming spring season, when these now naked trees shall have resumed their wonted foliage, may our hearts be renewed in their mutual affections, and may all the sullen and angry clouds which seem to be gathering in the political atmosphere have given place to those serene and suspicious skies, which properly belong to the only pure and complete Republican system to be found on the face of the earth. [Loud and prolonged cheering.]

Another Cure.

WAUMADEE, Minn., April 15, 1857.

MESSRS. B. PAGE, JR., & CO.—GENTLEMEN:—During the past seven years I have suffered from all the ills incident to a weakness of the digestive organs. At times—being seized with an extreme loathing of food—I have not tasted nourishment for days; and again, when an appetite partially returned, the stomach was unable to retain what was eaten. At the suggestion of a friend, who had received much benefit, in a similar case from your Holland Bitters, I procured a bottle, and before I had taken half of it, experienced much relief: and now, after having continued its use for a short time, enjoy excellent health.

Yours, &c., J. MASTER.

A NEW

Hoop and Rattan Machine!!

THE SUBSCRIBER HAS SUCCEEDED in producing Machines for the purpose of splitting and dressing Hoops. The principles developed in the Machines are simple, by use ensures for simplicity and durability, as well as the light power required to operate them, in consequence of the oval lining or vibrating motion of the splitting knife applied to opening the pole, with a perfect and simple arrangement for entering it, and requiring no attention in splitting for smaller size to large hoops used hoops, and is equally well adapted to splitting Hazelnut, Oiers, Willows and Basket Stuff. The machines have received the highest premiums at the late Fairs at Boston and Baltimore.

Special Notices.

American Watches,
MADE BY THE
AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY,
AT WALTHAM, MASS.

Attention is invited to the following statement and the accompanying letters of recommendation and testimonials, in favor of these celebrated Watches.

A gold medal was awarded the Company by the American Institute at New York in 1857.

The Company also received the first premium—a gold medal from the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, in 1852.

These Watches have now been in market for nearly ten years, during which time they have been tested as to accuracy, durability, and reliability in every conceivable manner, and have proved themselves to be the most satisfactory time-pieces ever offered to the public.

This result has been brought about by a strict application of mechanical science to the construction of the Watch from its very inception, rendering it when finished, mathematically correct in all its proportions, and necessarily as perfect a timekeeper as it is possible to make.

The Company have rested their Watches in many instances, by actual daily noting, and the result of this test has been that they have exhibited a rate equal in regularity to the best marine chronometer.

From the Prairie Farmer, Oct. 1860.

AMERICAN WATCHES.—Nearly a year ago, we resolved from Messrs. Robbins & Appleton, General Agents of the American Watch Company, and paid for a good looking watch, "warranted," with the request that after thorough trial we should say what we thought of it, editorially. It has been our constant companion nearly a year. We have had no fault to find with the way it has ticked the time. We do not want a better timepiece than this has proved to be thus far. Once regulated (and we regulated it ourself) it has scarcely varied a half minute a month from "transit time." Added to its quality as a good time keeper, it is honestly and substantially made. Were we going to purchase, we should prefer an American watch.

Office of the Tribune, New York, Oct 27, 1859.

American Watch Company, Waltham,

Gentlemen,—Having carried one of your watches for the last eight years, I can say confidently that they will do, and may be bought with assurance that they will keep time. I believe the watch unsurpassed.

HORACE GREELEY.

New York, Aug. 2, 1860.

Gentlemen—In reply to yours of 25th ultc, we take pleasure in stating that the American watch now in use upon our railroad, has varied only six seconds, in a little over six months.

Respectfully,

E. W. & W. A. TORREY,

Contractors on the Kar. and Del. Bay R. R.

To Messrs. Robbins & Appleton.

Boston, Sept. 27, 1859.

MR. E. E. Robbins, Treasurer Amer. Watch Co.:

Dear Sir—It gives me great pleasure to comply with your request for a report of the performance of the American Watch I purchased of you Dec. 2, 1858. It was set on that day, and the variation from true time to the 28th of February, 1856, when I let it run down, was ten second fast. From that time to the present, it has run with nearly perfect steadiness, having during the eight months remained at from seven to nine seconds fast, and this with uncommonly rough usage. I can commend your manufacture in the highest terms.

Yours truly,

JAMES H. CLAPP.

Firm of Clapp, Faller & Brown, Bankers, Boston.

The following named gentlemen may be referred to in relation to these Watches:

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Me.; John G. Saxe, Vermont; N. P. Willis, New York; Hon. N. P. Banks, Mass.; Horace Greeley; Frank Leslie;
Cyrus W. Field, New York; Wm. H. Cary, N. Y.;
Paul Morphy, New Orleans; Norman Ward, Wis;
Dr. J. Marion Sims; Prof. Bartlett, West Pt;
Lieut. M. F. Maury, U.S.N.; Col. W. J. Worth, U.S.A.;
R. I. Prime, D.D., Wh'p Pis; Wilson G. Hunt, N. Y.;
Gen. G. P. Morris, N. York; Peter Cooper, N. York.

CAUTION.—As our Watch is now extensively counterfeited by foreign manufacturers, we have to inform the public that no watch is of our production which is unaccompanied by a certificate of genuineness, bearing the number of the watch, and signed by our Treasurer, E. E. Robbins, or by our predecessors, Appleton, Tracy & Co.

As these watches are for sale by jewelers generally throughout the Union, the American Watch Company do not solicit orders for single watches.

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for Children Teething.—This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in thousands of cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and vigor to the whole system.

It will almost instantly relieve griping in the bowels, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death.

We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause.

Look well for the genuine article, with fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, on the outside wrapper, without which none is genuine.

WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM WEAKNESS or debility, where there is a want of energy, should at once have recourse to JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS. They immediately purify the blood and act upon the mainspring of life, giving strength and vigor to the system. Young persons entering into womanhood, with a derangement of the functions; and to mothers at the turn of life, the Pills will be more efficacious in correcting the tide of life that may be on the turn. Young and elderly men suffer in a similar manner at the same periods, when there is always danger, they should therefore endeavor a course of this purifying medicine, which is a never-failing benefit.

This great Household Medicine ranks among the leading necessaries of life, as it is well known to the world that it cures complaints other remedies cannot reach; this fact is as well established as the Sun lights the World.

THE FLORAL GIFT.

BY ANNIE ELIZABETH.

Flowers at this season! frosts have come,
And the dead leaves are hurrying home
Before the Autumn gale;
My flowers have faded long ago,
Their withered petals, drooping low,
No incense now exhale.

But these are fresh as the gems of May;
Flora may envy me to-day
This fair and fragrant store;
Vassals bring flowers at her command,
But Friendship's warm and gentle hand
Has laid these at my door.

Bless your bright presence; 'tis a power
That soothes the heart in sorrow's hour,
And blends its aching with;
Though severed from its parent vine,
Yet all your beauties upward shine,
Your sweets ye offer still.

Bright cluster, friendship's rich perfume
Is lingering on your radiant bloom,
Mingling its breath with yours;
And though ye're frail and perishing,—
Like every cherished earth-reared thing,—
Such fragrance long endures.

Fair gift before a sacred shrine
I would your graceful beauties twine,
And consecrate them there;
Each petal kind remembrance breathes,
And garlanding on your emblem wreathes,
My heart forgets its care.

Silent, though present with me here,
I know and feel that ye are near,
Yet never to upbraid;
Sweet comforters, I learn to trace
In every frail and lovely grace,
The waymarks of the good.

Well might the stars and angels sing,
When earth was poised on azure wing,
And garlanded with flowers;
God help, and ever pity him,
Who in life's windings, dark and dim,
Has never felt their powers.

MRS. HADDOCK'S HAIR-PINS.

The night mail lumbering through the heavy snow one wild and gusty December night, some forty years ago, bore a shivering freight of blue-nosed passengers on their comfortless journey across the moors of Dearthshire; and among them Mrs. Grudlestone's maid, Hester Burgess, in the rumble. A mail-coach ride from London to Dearthshire was no inconsiderable undertaking for an unprotected female in those days mind you, still less for a timid young woman just going into service for the first time, thrown upon the world by the death of her mother, alone and friendless. And indeed Hester Burgess had a dreary and forlorn prospect before her when she set out to travel two hundred miles to seek a home with strangers.

In those days, winters were real winters, and no mistake about them. The coldest, most biting of December winds kept company with the coach, insinuated itself down the travelers' necks, got under their cloaks, sought out the weakest points in their overalls and wrappers, and attacked them savagely, while a heavy snow fell upon their backs and soaked them through. Perhaps the greatest sufferer from these discomforts was the young woman Hester, who, although kindly wrapped up in the guard's extra coat, shivering with cold, was very miserable; and so it was that a halting place thirty miles off her destination the coachman descending from his box and opening the door begged permission of a neatly tucked up bundle of wrappers therein reclining to admit the frozen maid. A responsive grunt being taken for acquiescence, Hester was admitted accordingly, and fell asleep in the corner

She awoke with a start just before daybreak, to find that the bundle of wrappers had taken the form of a man, whose face—a very ugly one—was close to hers, with a pair of cold grey eyes fixed searchingly upon her.

"Oh, sir!" Hester cried.

"What makes you call out in your sleep?" the other traveler asked sharply. "What makes you cry murder! in your sleep?"

"I didn't know I did, sir."

"You did, and woke me. Don't do so again."

The ugly face retreating, the gray eyes closing, the wrappers re-adjusted, all became quiet, as before; but Hester trembling, she scarce knew why, kept a watch upon her companion, and, hardly breathing or moving a limb, sat bolt upright throughout the rest of the night.

"Here's the Pollards!" said the guard, opening the door about an hour after daybreak. "And here's the carriage, sir."

Much to Hester's surprise, her traveling companion took his place in the roughmun waiting at the corner of the road. The driver bade her sit beside him on the box, and as they drove along informed her that the gentleman inside was Mr. Silas Gurdlestone—Mr. Ralph, the master's brother, that Mr. Ralph, who lay dangerously ill, had sent for him, wishing him to make an end to a sort of coolness which had existed between them ever since he, Ralph, was married to his good lady, on whom they did say, Mr. Silas was himself, before their marriage, a little sweet. Rogers (he was the driver) recollected when they were about to be married how there had been a power of surmise and conjecture as to how Mr. Silas would like it, how, on the bridal morning, directly after leaving the church, he had disappeared, and how they next heard from him in some foreign country, where he said he intended to pass the remainder of his life.—"Very strange man, Mr. Silas," Rogers said, wagging his noddle solemnly, "very, very strange."

The dullest place upon earth must surely have been the Pollards. It was a bare, ugly, red brick building, having, on one side, a weedy and neglected garden, on the other, a large stagnant dyke, upon the banks of which, and inclining over the water, grew in fantastic shapes, some dwarfish pollards, from which the house derived its name. This dwelling had long been the property of Mrs. Gurdlestone's family; but, since her father's death, had until lately remained untenanted. It was with the intention of renovating it and making it his country residence that Mr. Ralph had now come down with his wife and her sister, but he falling ill immediately upon his arrival, the repairs and improvements had been for a while suspended. You may be sure the town-servants were dull enough here; indeed, Jeames, yawning, was a sight to see and be frightened at, in such imminent peril of falling off did the top part of that gentleman's head appear to be on these occasions. As for Hester, her recent grief, the breaking up of a happy home, her present friendless condition—all preyed upon her mind and, with the general melancholy of the place, combined to render her life a very sad and weary one. But there was soon other cause for anxiety.

Somehow Mr. Ralph grew worse and worse, in spite of doctors and physic. Night and day, his wife watched by his bedside; Mr. Silas, too, was unremitting in his care for and attention to the invalid, often mixing and administering his medicines to him. One night there was a slight change for the better, and Mr. Silas had persuaded Mrs. Gurdlestone to go and seek a few hours repose whilst he took her place in the sick room. She, poor thing, legged and jaded by long watching, with a little persuasion, consented, and then all the household retired to their respective chambers, except the watcher. Thus, for a while, the time passed silently, and then there broke upon the stillness of the sleeping house a loud continuous knocking at Mrs. Gurdlestones, door. She came out, pale and anxious, in answer to the summons, and found Mr. Silas trembling and violently excited, who cried out in a broken voice.

"He's gone!—dead—of a sudden! I thot I heard his breath stop, and drew the curtain."

The distracted woman hurried into the room. It was too true: he was indeed dead—his hands twisted in the bed-clothes, his eyes wide open, a strange look of death and horror in his face, and quite cold!

Then sleepers, awakened by the young widow's piercing screams, came crowding, half-dressed to the spot, their white faces looking horrible in the flaring candle light. The nearest doctor was summoned, and all sorts of remedies suggested—but in vain. Hester, while attending her fainting mistress, stooped to pick up something lying by the dead man's bed.

"What is it?" Mr. Silas said, quietly taking the object from her fingers.

It was a straightened hair pin. He pinched her slightly in pulling it away, and must have scratched himself with it, for there was a mark of blood upon her hand.

A greater gloom than ever fell upon the house after the master's death. The servants one by one gave warning and left.—The cook promised to find Hester a place in town, and write for her; while Jeames, who had always been particular in his attentions, offered to take her to London as his wife.—He has since then gone into the public line, is the proprietor of the Leviathan Music Hall in Radcliffe Highway, drives his own carrriage, and keeps, beside his magnificent better half and her establishment, a pretty little cottage, &c., at Brompton (on the quiet)! The cook, perhaps, forgot her promise, or perhaps places were scarce, for she did not write; and so Hester, at last, was the only one of the London servants remaining.

It was dull, indeed! The stagnant pool, and neglected garden, were at any time but dreary objects for contemplation. The sweet ward, ill-educated country servants afforded but indifferent companionship for Hester, who had been brought up with no idea of going into service, or mixing with such society, and so grew to be very sad and silent and down hearted.

Mrs. Gurdlestone's sister (Miss Ethel) had permanently her abode at the Pollards, and Mr. Silas still lingering to clear up certain matters of business referring to the late Mr. Ralph, although he had on several occasions fixed a day for his departure. As well as Hester could learn from scraps of conversation up stairs, Miss Ethel disliked him very much, and wished her sister to give him a broad hint that his company was not needed. Whatever may have been Mrs. Gurdlestone's wishes upon the subject, she was too considerate of the feelings of others, or too much wrapped up in her great grief, then to be otherwise than passive, and things went on the same as usual.

One night, about a month after the master's death, Hester Burgess sat alone by the fast dying fire in the servant's hall. It was her duty to wait until her mistress summoned her to attend her toilet on retiring to rest; and this night she was so much later than usual, that all the other servants had been in bed full half an hour. The great clock upon the stairs ticked loudly, and the wind moaned and rushed among the evergreens outside the window like the stealthy whispered thieves; all else was still as the grave. And as Hester was sitting anxiously waiting, an overpowering sense of loneliness came over her; and with a shiver she rose and went softly up stairs to her mistress' room. Mrs. Gurdlestone and Miss Ethel were in the former's bed room, which was divided from the staircase by a long, dark ante-chamber. The door leading into Mrs. Gurdlestone's room, and that upon the stairs, were both ajar, and Hester, entering noiselessly at one, would have knocked at the other, had she not perceived a dark figure, with its back towards her, standing between her and the light. She stopped involuntarily, held her breath, and listened.

Miss Ethel spoke: "But, Mary, how can you be so weak—so childish?"

"What would you have me do?" the other lady said complainingly, "I'm sure I do not keep him here. I wish he'd go off, if he offends you. But then he has been so kind and so attentive; and he is my dear husband's brother."

"I tell you, Mary, I hate him! And mark my words, if he is not some day more nearly related to you than he is now."

"Ethel!"

"He will, Mary, though I pray God I may not live to see it."

There was a rustling sound, as though one of the ladies had risen. A figure passed Hester quickly in the dark, and before she had time to speak or move, the bed room door opened wide, and Miss Ethel came out with a light.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA!

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON ALL RIGHT!

BOTH STATES REPUBLICAN!

FT. KEARNY, Nov. 25.

The Pony Express from San Francisco, with advices to 3 P. M. of the 14th, passed here about 4 o'clock this afternoon. Considering the snow in the mountains this is making good time. By this arrival we have Pacific news as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Trade with the country is less active than during the preceding week. Considerable rain has fallen, but not sufficient to interfere seriously with the transportation of goods throughout the interior. The country has been, however, supplied so liberally within the past 60 days as to diminish the present demand, and as soon as freight advances we may look for its entire cessation. This is the general expectation entertained by city dealers, hence the increased efforts to reduce stocks, and to avoid calling upon first hands for anything not immediately needed.

The Presidential election returns still lack five or six thousand votes of being complete. The total vote returned is 111,813. Lincoln 36 358; Douglas 35,990; Breckinridge 31,216; Bell 8,026. Lincoln's majority over Douglas 596. This is the most favorable account for Douglas published. Other authorities placing him nearly 1,000 behind Lincoln. The balance of the returns will probably reduce Lincoln's majority, but the State is generally conceded to have gone Republican, although the official count is required to settle all doubts.

A dispatch from Yreka, near Oregon, on the 13th, says, last advices from Oregon give 350 majority for Lincoln over Breckinridge. Douglas was six hundred behind Breckinridge, with three small counties to hear from, which cannot vary the result.

Returns from a few of the principal counties show donations on election day to the Washington monument fund to the amount of $420.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARAGO.

ST. JOHNS, N. F. Nov. 24.

The steamship Arago, which left Havre on the 13th, and Cowes at 10 P. M., on the 14th, passed Cape Race at 9 P. M. yesterday, where she was intercepted by the yacht of the New York Associated Press.

The Arago has 165 passengers, and 300 tons of freight for New York, and reports having experienced westerly winds the most of the passage. She will be due at New York on Monday night.

CHINA.—It is reported that the settlement of negotiations had been delayed on a question of money, and unity on understanding. The allied armies are marching on Pekin, where Yangee Gineen had a large force to defend the city.

Lord Elgin was to follow the troops September 9th.

The army reached Yantzein Yek, on the 2d.

The coolies were deserted, and carriage was deficient.

Two thousand troops were left at Tientsin, to protect them from the rebels, who were inactive at Canton.

Trade was obstructed by the rebels.—It was rumored in London that the British Government had received official despatches from China, that peace had been concluded at Pekin by the English and French Ambassadors, but it was generally supposed that that government would not withhold such intelligence from Europe.

The steamship Arabia from Boston via Halifax, arrived at Liverpool on the 11th.

The steamship New York, from New York, put into Plymouth on the 11th, short of coal.

The steamer City of Manchester arrived at Queenstown on the 13th.

The squadron, with the Prince of Wales on board, had not reached England.

The Bank rates of discount had been advanced to five per cent on Tuesday evening, and the Bank of France had raised its discount rate to 4 1-8 per cent. Intelligence respecting the negotiations for the capitulation of Gaeta is received. It is asserted that it is composed of only a few battalions. It is stated that Gen. Goyer considers his position as untenable.

Garibaldi has issued a farewell proclamation to his late army, concluding by telling his companions in arms that an army of a million men will be wanted to follow him again to a fresh contest, which is likely to break out in Italy by March next.

The siege works before Gaeta actively continued, and if the garrison will not capitulate, a general bombardment will commence.

Francis had rejected the proposal to evacuate the town, on the basis that he commands the troops, thirty thousand strong, at Gaeta, and relies on the strength of the fortress.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—3 P. M.

Jas. Black was nearly murdered by a gang of rowdies in Bleeker street on Friday. One of them had jostled Mr. Black, and on his remonstrating thereat, the assault occurred. His skull was fractured.

A collision occurred on Friday night at Fordham, between two freight trains, one of which had a passenger car attached. Daniel Dodge Kelly was seriously injured internally, and his recovery is doubtful. Two other passengers and a brakeman were somewhat hurt.

Advices from Panama, by the Ariel, state that the cargo of the American brig Winthrop had been seized at Guatemala by the Commissary of the general government, and appropriated to the troops and public.

Wm. C. Foster, an American citizen, had been arrested for going from Carthagena to San Maria without a passport, though he had one from the American Consul.

Two boxes of specie, containing $5,000 belonging to American citizens, were seized at Santa Maria, and are still in possession of Gen. Gort.

News from Peru is to the effect that Mr. Clay has received his passports, and would leave on this month for Panama and New York. Diplomatic intercourse is thus suspended with Peru.

Later from California and Oregon.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 25—3 P. M.

By Pony Express, we have dates from San Francisco to the 10th inst.

The election returns, as far as heard from, giving Lincoln a majority of 1,150 over Douglas; these returns were all received by telegraph, and it is probable that mistakes may have occurred. Douglas will gain a few hundred in the remainder of the State that is to be heard from, and it is thought that nothing but the official count will decide the result.

It is generally thought that Lincoln's chances are the more favorable.

The members elected to the California Legislature stand: Senate—9 Douglas Dem. 5 Breckinridge, and 4 Republican. House —49 Douglas, 21 Breckinridge and 19 Republican.

Of the 17 Senators who hold over from last year, 11 are understood to be for Douglas, 4 Breckinridge and 2 Republican.

The returns from three counties in Oregon are unexpectedly favorable for Mr. Breckinridge. No other returns received.

The Kansas Troubles.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.

The different military companies in this city met at their armories last night, when General Frost gave them Gov. Stewart's final orders, which were at once to proceed to the frontier. Several speeches were made by officers, and quite a number of recruits outside the companies enrolled themselves for the campaign. The brigade, about 600 strong, will leave at 10 o'clock to morrow, by extra train to Syracuse; thence across the country to the scene of disturbance.

MONETARY.

MONDAY P. M., Nov. 26, 1860.

Eastern Exchange advanced nominally to 6 ⅌ cent premium to-day, and the banks would only sell in very urgent cases at that. Shipments of grain have ceased for the winter, except as an occasional propeller going down may take a few thousand bushels, and until there is an active movement of provisions and flour we cannot look for an easier Exchange market. The fact is now becoming very apparent that although the West exported largely this year she also purchased largely of the East, and the bankers of our neighboring State dabbled to such an extent in "securities" as to leave a considerable balance against us. There is, however, a satisfaction in knowing that the present difficulties in meeting our obligations arise from a faulty currency—not any lack of means. The West never before teemed with such an abundance of wealth as at the present time. That exhorbitant rates of Exchange should exist at such a period is somewhat paradoxical to those unfamiliar with the mysteries of our currency system, and if we do not very much mistake the business community of this State and Illinois the subject is one that will receive a pretty thorough ventilation at the convening of the next Legislatures of these States. Aside from the scarcity of Exchange the money market is easy enough.

NEW YORK MONEY MATTERS.

We have the following money and stock report by telegraph from New York to-day:

The wheat market to-day was almost at a stand. Until towards noon sellers were holding at Saturday's closing prices; but there was not much business done. All parties were disposed to wait for the steamer's news, and but little could have been bought or sold previous to the meeting on Change. The advices from New York, after the steamer had been telegraphed, were followed by a nominal decline of 2c, several thousand bushels changing hands at 74c for No. 2, and 76c for No. 1 spring in store, winter receipts. The great decrease in the spply, however, discouraged sellers to hold, and the sales in the aggregate were comparatively trifling. Flour was neglected, and quotations are entirely nominal. There are some orders on the market, but buyers are disposed to hold off a while longer. The receipts of hogs amounted to 250 head live and dressed. The market was rather heavy, but unchanged, dressed hogs bringing $5,50@5,75, and in one instance $6 for an Extra lot. There were no live hogs on the market.

CHICAGO MARKET, NOVEMBER 26.

Receipts at Chicago on Saturday included 2,826 bbls flour, 16,397 bus wheat, 14,455 bus corn, 2,553 bus oats, 1,900 bus rye, 2,095 bus barley. The Times has the following report of the market:

The weather is very cold, and out door business very much neglected. The near market is perfectly lifeless, and to effect sales a decline of 5@10c from yesterday's prices would have to be submitted to. Wheat was quiet, and the market about 1c lower than yesterday; No. 2 spring sold at 74@74½c; No. 1 do at 76@76½c, and Northwestern club at 78½@79c. Corn was neglected and lower. Our sales embrace 4 car lots at 40c for old No. 1, 29c for No. 2 do, and 31c for new delivered. Oats, Rye and Barley are dull and neglected. Highwines dull at 19c for round lots.—Clover and Timothy seed firm. There is nothing in provisions worth reporting, and the markets unchanged.

HOGS AND PROVISIONS.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Saturday says:

Hogs were offered freely at $5, but there were few buyers at over $5,75. Holders are becoming more anxious to realize, but packers cannot be induced to take hold at the rates asked, a further material decline being quite probable. Receipts 7,500 head. Weather cold. Provisions were very dull. Mess pork was obtainable at $16,25@16,50. There were few buyers for barrel lard at 9½c, and green meats cannot be quoted at over 7½@8c for shoulders, 6¼ for sides, and 7½@7¾c for hams. Flour dull and neglected. For wheat 90c and $1 was asked for prime and white, but the market was dull. Corn, under large receipts, declined to 29@30c. Whiskey advanced to 18c.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

MARINE ITEMS.

RUMORED LOSS OF THE PROPELLER DACOTAH.

There was a rumor widely prevalent in our city, last evening, that the propeller Dacotah, Captain Cross, had been lost in the storm of Saturday, on Lake Erie. The despatch to the press make no mention of such a disaster. We devoutly trust that the report is unfounded.

OFF PORT.

The snow storms of last week somewhat deranged the running arrangements of the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway steamers, neither of their captains deeming it prudent to leave port in "thick" weather, while there are so many vessels on the Lake at the present time. There was consequently no steamer from here for Grand Haven on Thursday or Friday nights. On Saturday night the Detroit sailed, and the Milwaukee on Sunday, both taking full deck loads of freight, and the latter 45 passengers.

THE FOREST QUEEN.

We are still without the particulars of the sinking of this vessel. The first report came from Chicago, the information reaching there by the propeller Ogontz. The fact that the wind has been blowing strongly from the West or North-West for the most part during last week, has given rise to the opinion that the report of her being ashore at Baylis's Harbor is a mistake.—One insurance companies are looking for definite information on the subject with some anxiety.

ASHORE.

The schooner Barney Eaton, a small lumber vessel, went ashore north of the Straight Cut, on Sunday night, endeavoring to make the harbor in a snow storm. She is high up on the beach and appears to lay easy.

LEAKING.

The old brig Saint Helle came into port Sunday night leaking slightly. She was bound for this port with lumber, a portion of which she had to throw overboard. Her headgear and forecastle were completely enveloped in ice, giving her something of the appearance of a moving iceberg as she came into harbor.

IN FOR SHELTER.

The schrs. Granada, L. E. Johnson, and John Thurselly sound down with grain, were both in our harbor yesterday, weather bound. They are probably under way again by this time.

THE GALES ON LAKES ERIE AND ONTARIO—DISASTERS.

The following dispatch from Oswego, giving particulars of disasters by the recent gale, was received last evening:

OSWEGO, Nov. 26th—9 P. M.

The following vessels are reported:

Schr. Forest, frozen in near Trenton, Bay Quinte.

Schr. Cascade, driven into Sackett's Harbor disabled; sails gone. Loaded with wheat.

Jennie P. Mack, ashore ten miles above Pt. Colborne, Lake Erie. Cargo, coal.

Mary Selina, ashore in Claremont Bay, with a cargo of lumber.

Comet, with grain from Youngstown, ashore near Big Sodus.

Queen City, at Kingston, boats lost and sails rib-boned

Prop. Castor, ashore eight miles below Stone Mills, Canada, has gone to pieces.

Schr. Augustus Handy, in South Bay; canvas and boat gone; leaking badly.

Seven vessels are reported ashore between Kingston and Sackett's Harbor, by steamer from the former place.

A blinding snow storm from the south-east is now prevailing here.

ARRIVED AT BUFFALO.

The brig Globe, schooners J. Cochrane, Dandelion, S. B. Pomeroy and Ketchum, arrived at Buffalo on the 23d with wheat from Milwaukee.

VESSELS LAYING UP.

We notice quite a number of vessels are stripping off their canvas, and making other preparations preparatory to going into winter quarters. The propeller Equinox, which came in yesterday, will not, it is said, make another trip, and the Arrow will make but one more this season.—Buffalo Com., of Friday.

SALE OF THE STEAMER ARIEL.

The steamer Ariel took her departure yesterday for Saginaw, commanded by Capt. Watson. She was purchased by Mr. Harvey, of Detroit City, for $7,000, and will hereafter ply regularly on the Saginaw River and elsewhere in that vicinity, as occasion may require.—Detroit Advertiser, 24th.

DISASTERS.

The bark B. S. Shepard, in tow of the tug Bart over the flats on Wednesday, came in collision with the snow Michigan Shower, doing damage to the bark by carrying away more or less of her headgear, causing one day's detention here for repairs. The steamer had her mainboom davits, and her forboard mainrigging carried away. The bark proceeded on her voyage yesterday.

The schooner Oriole, bound for Chicago, arrived here yesterday with the loss of jib, which was blown away while on Lake Erie. She was detained here yesterday for repairs.

The schooner Sedo: Pratt, a three-master, laden with 17,000 bus wheat, and bound to Buffalo, struck the west end of the breakwater pier, Ft. Preston, in the Point au Pelee passage, on Tuesday night about 9 o'clock, and sprung a leak. She was kept on her course while the extent of the damage was unknown, but when it was found that the water was gaining on the pumps, she was headed for the mainland, and sunk in seven fathoms water, and from two to three miles north of the "Dummy." She is, of course, a loss, with exception, perhaps, of some of her sails and rigging.

The crew betook themselves to the yawl, and were picked up the next morning, while cruising about the place, by Capt. Hayes, of the S. F. Bailey, to whom we are indebted for the above particulars. The crew remained with him to breakfast, and started in their boat again for the mainland. The vessel was insured to Buffalo Marine Insurance.

Since writing the above we have learned further particulars by the master of the vessel, Capt. Alexander Mackie, who arrived in this city by wagon. He had left the crew to rescue, if possible, her sails and rigging, and leave them for them.

He states that he shaped his course so as, he supposed, to give the wreck of the Mt. Vernon a wide berth, and that in fairly indicated as whereabouts.—At about half-past eight, and when the vessel was going through the water as fast as he ever saw her, the wheel was suddenly thrown out of the hands of the wheelsman, and she broached-to. This occurrence naturally excited alarm, and upon trial of the pumps made soon after, he found that she was leaking fast.—Every pump was manned and she was put before sail, headed in shore, to save her if possible. The water gained steadily, but still every man was urged to his utmost, both captain and mate lending a hand. In the interim the captain upon saving the vessel that he neglected to save his clothes, money and papers, and only released the men from the pumps when the water came over his feet. He ordered them to lower the yawl and to keep her close in the wake of the vessel. He stood on a platform at the helm, till his own safety demanded his leaving the vessel.

Such a captain as this is worth having.

The Sedo: Pratt was owned by Captain Farrer and Wm. Cobb, of Buffalo. Both vessel and cargo were insured. The wheat was shipped by Mr. Vanhowagen, of Chicago. She doubtless struck one of the iron rods of the propeller, that entered her bow and scraped along for entire length.

This is the second vessel lost by striking this wreck, and it is high time something was done to get it out of the way. It is not unlikely that some nice question may arise in Court as to the liability of the owner of the Mt. Vernon for these losses.—Det. Advertiser, Nov. 22.

PASSED DETROIT.

The following is a list of vessels that passed Detroit on Thursday.

Bound Up—Steamer Minnesota; propeller Concord; schooners Oriole, Malvina, Margaret, Sol. Holley, Thos. Kingsford.

Bound Down—Steamers City of Cleveland, Columbia; prop. Mineral Rock; schooners Comet, Eliza Logan.

Passed on Friday.

Bound Up—Steam Forest Queen, Columbia; props. Illinois, Alleghany, Buffalo, Plymouth, Tonawanda; bark Montanellier; schrs. J. Hibbard, Return, Avenger.

Bound Down—Steamer Illinois; props. Concord, Evergreen City; schrs. Tatar, Pioneer.

Wind moderate S. W., accompanied with snow and rain.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The bark Ocean Wave, which collided with the schooner Rocket a day or two since on lake Huron, will, we understand, be towed to this port and laid up for the season.

The schooner Pioneer, Captain John W. Pomeroy, bound from Erie to Milwaukee, with four hundred tons coal, arrived, in tow, last evening, and was expected to proceed during the night. She left Erie on Thursday night.

The props. Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Tonawanda passed up yesterday, deeply loaded with merchandize for Chicago. The Allegheny also passed up, and was clear of Grand Traverse Bay on her way to Chicago. She had little or no cargo.—Det. Advertiser's Saturday.

SINGULAR FATALITY ON SHIPBOARD.

A singular fatality occurred on board the schooner Jenny Ann, Capt. Long, which came into port yesterday, happening when the vessel was about 40 miles out. A heavy sea struck the schooner and completely stove her yawl boat, throwing it clear over the stern, and upon the man who stood at the wheel. The unfortunate sailor was crushed down upon the wheel in such a manner that one of its projecting spokes or handles was forced entirely through his head. We have not been able to learn the name of the deceased or the place of his residence.—Buffalo Express, 23d.

The Commercial says his name was Wm. Downing, and he was a Scotchman.

Of the Mohawk's wheat, some 15,000 bus have been saved in fine order for distilling by Mr. Phelps. The remainder went forward with the wreck, and will, we suppose, prove valueless.

In the regular of the Echo, Racine, which was recently put into by the Shampler, are progressingly finely at Campbell & Owen's and she will leave for Racine on Monday.—Detroit Adv., Saturday.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

SLIGHTLY SPIRITED.

Never was a Chicago paper known to allude to the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad without giving vent to its malice in falsehood or misrepresentation.—The Times of yesterday, for instance, has the following amiable allusion to one of the Company's fine steamers:

We learn from the Milwaukee Sentinel that the great new steamer, "fast sailing," "wonder-working," "ever-the-world "ocean steamship" Milwaukee, of the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. Line, has just gone into winter quarters, and probable is to undergo a general overhauling and repairing.

The above is only a small portion of the Times' attack upon the D. & M. R. R., but is enough for a sample. It contains a lie for every two lines. First, it did not learn any such thing as it states from the Sentinel; the number two, the Milwaukee has not gone into "winter quarters," nor have the Company any idea of laying her up for the winter; by reference to our marine list it will be seen that she sailed for Grand Haven yesterday with a large load of freight and passengers; the number three, she is not to undergo any "general repairing," because she is not damaged in any respect, but is really in better working order than when she came from the hands of the ship-builder, a little over a year ago. What we said about the Milwaukee was the is—and the Times understood it correctly if it chose to tell the truth—namely: That it was contemplated, as soon as the business of the road would admit of it, to withdraw the Milwaukee from the route for a short period, in order to make some alterations in her passenger and freight arrangements, to accommodate more fully the increasing traffic of the route.

Now, in connection, we should like to ask the malicious jackanapes of the Chicago Times what he expects to make by such unprovoked and unjustifiable attacks upon the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. as he indulges in occasionally? Is it not a legitimate and legal corporation, doing business in a legitimate way for its own interest and the benefit of the public? Are not its steamers a credit and an ornament to our lake commerce? Are they not quite as worthy of the public confidence as any other steamers on the lakes? In short, what is there about the Detroit & Milwaukee R.R. beyond any other railroad that should incite the special ire of the Times' editor? What particular good does he hope to accomplish by misrepresenting it? If he thinks the public would give credence to any statement made by a Chicago paper about the Detroit and Milwaukee R. R. at this day he proves himself to be a greater fool than he is a liar.

RAILWAY DIVIDENDS.

The Directors of the Little Miami Railroad Company have declared a dividend of 4 ⅌ cent for the last six months.

The Galena & Chicago Union Railroad Company have declared a dividend of 3½ cent, payable in New York on January 1st next.

EARNINGS.

The Michigan Central Railroad earned the second week of

November, 1860..... $10,461 12
November, 1859..... 42,955 32

Increase..... $7,192 80

The Michigan Southern in the same week earned an increase of $14,000.

SHIPMENT OF RAILROAD IRON.

One thousand tons of rails are being, or have just been shipped from Buffalo, to be laid on the railroad from Saginaw to Flint, and five hundred tons more are to be shipped soon.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

The stock of the Grand Trunk of Canada, experienced a further fall of 1 ⅌ cent in London on the 6th inst., and it is consequently surmised that any private advices that may have been brought by the Africa are again of a discouraging nature.
